GETTING STARTED

Welcome to 50 ChatGPT Commands

This library was built for people who create things for a living, or alongside everything else they do. Whether you're planning a week of social posts, naming a new product line, or trying to describe why your work matters, a well-built command turns a blank page into a starting point.

Each of the 50 commands inside this collection is a ready-to-use instruction for ChatGPT, organized by purpose so you can find the right one quickly. They are written to be specific enough to produce a genuinely useful result, while leaving clear placeholders for you to customize with your own product, audience, and voice.

This collection is especially useful for:

- ◆ Content Creators
- ◆ Marketers
- ◆ Entrepreneurs
- ◆ Product Sellers
- ◆ Social Media Managers
- ◆ Designers
- ◆ Small Business Owners
- ◆ Freelancers

No matter which of these best describes you, the process is the same: copy a command, customize the placeholders to fit your specific product or audience, and paste it into ChatGPT to generate a tailored result you can refine further.

QUICK START GUIDE

How to Use These Commands

1

Select a command

Browse by category or use the quick-reference index to find the command that matches your goal.

2

Copy the complete command

Copy the entire prompt text, not just the command name — the full instruction is what makes it effective.

3

Replace placeholders

Swap out bracketed placeholders like [PRODUCT] or [TARGET AUDIENCE] with your actual details.

4

Add your specific requirements

Include any extra context ChatGPT should know — brand voice, length limits, or formatting needs.

5

Paste it into ChatGPT

Paste the finished, customized command into a new or existing ChatGPT conversation.

6

Review and refine the result

Treat the first output as a strong draft. Ask follow-up questions to adjust tone, length, or focus.

PRO TIP

“Give ChatGPT clear context, audience, objective, tone and desired output format for better results.”

01

CREATIVE ADVERTISING

COMMANDS 01-15

Bold concepts, scroll-stopping hooks, and campaign angles built to make your product impossible to ignore.

COMMAND 01

/adangleforge

01

PURPOSE

Generate fresh advertising angles for a product that feel different from typical category ads.

PROMPT

Act as a senior creative director. I sell [PRODUCT] in the [INDUSTRY] space, targeting [TARGET AUDIENCE]. Generate 8 distinct advertising angles that avoid cliches common in this category. For each angle, provide: a one-line concept, the emotional trigger it uses, and a headline under 10 words. Keep the tone [TONE] and make sure each angle could work on [PLATFORM].

EXAMPLE

Used for a cold-brew coffee brand targeting night-shift workers, generating angles built around 'staying sharp' rather than 'waking up.'

COMMAND 02

/hookline90

02

PURPOSE

Write a set of attention-grabbing opening lines for ads that stop the scroll in the first second.

PROMPT

You are a direct-response copywriter. Write 10 scroll-stopping opening lines (under 12 words each) for an ad promoting [PRODUCT] to [TARGET AUDIENCE] on [PLATFORM]. Each line should use a different technique: a bold claim, a question, a contrarian statement, a relatable complaint, or a surprising statistic. Label the technique used next to each line.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a skincare serum ad on Instagram, producing openers like 'Your moisturizer is lying to you.'

COMMAND 03

/streetposterconcept

03

PURPOSE

Design outdoor and billboard advertising concepts that communicate instantly at a glance.

PROMPT

Act as an out-of-home advertising strategist. Create 5 billboard/poster concepts for [BRAND], promoting [PRODUCT] to people who will see it for only 2-3 seconds while [CONTEXT, e.g. driving or walking]. For each concept, describe the single visual focus, the headline (max 6 words), and why it reads instantly from a distance.

EXAMPLE

Used for a fitness app, producing a concept showing one bold number ('30 Days.') dominating the poster.

COMMAND 04

/campaignarchitect

04

PURPOSE

Build a full creative campaign concept connecting a central idea across multiple touchpoints.

PROMPT

Act as a campaign strategist. Design one unifying creative concept for a [PRODUCT] campaign targeting [TARGET AUDIENCE], with the goal of [GOAL]. Explain the central idea in one sentence, then show how it would adapt across: social media, email, in-store signage, and video. Keep the tone [TONE] throughout.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a plant-based snack brand, building a 'Small Swap, Big Difference' campaign shown across four channels.

COMMAND 05

05

/attentiontriggerPURPOSE

Identify psychological attention triggers relevant to a specific audience and turn them into ad hooks.

PROMPT

Act as a consumer psychology expert. List 6 attention triggers (such as curiosity gaps, social proof, fear of missing out, or identity signaling) that are most relevant to [TARGET AUDIENCE] when considering [PRODUCT]. For each trigger, write one short ad hook that applies it naturally without feeling manipulative.

EXAMPLE

Used for a productivity planner aimed at busy parents, surfacing 'identity signaling' as the strongest trigger.

COMMAND 06

06

/socialadvariantPURPOSE

Produce multiple ready-to-post social media ad variations from one core message.

PROMPT

Act as a paid social copywriter. Starting from this core message: '[CORE MESSAGE]', write 5 short ad variations for [PLATFORM] promoting [PRODUCT]. Each variation should be under 40 words, include a call to action, and test a different tone (playful, urgent, aspirational, informative, minimal).

EXAMPLE

Applied to a subscription tea box, generating five Instagram caption variants from the message 'Tea that fits your mood.'

COMMAND 07

07

/promoconceptbuilderPURPOSE

Design creative concepts for a limited-time promotion or sale that feel exciting rather than generic.

PROMPT

Act as a promotions strategist. I'm running a [PROMOTION TYPE, e.g. 20% off / bundle deal] for [PRODUCT] over [TIMEFRAME]. Create 4 creative concepts that make this promotion feel like an event rather than a generic discount. Include a name for the promotion, the core visual idea, and a one-line hook for each.

EXAMPLE

Used for a bookstore's end-of-summer sale, producing the concept name 'Last Chapter of Summer.'

COMMAND 08

08

/brandvoicehookPURPOSE

Draft advertising copy that stays consistent with an established brand voice and personality.

PROMPT

Act as a brand copywriter who deeply understands [BRAND]'s voice, which can be described as [TONE/PERSONALITY]. Write 5 short ad lines for [PRODUCT] that sound unmistakably like this brand and would work for [PLATFORM]. Avoid generic marketing phrases; make the personality obvious in the wording.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a witty, irreverent sneaker brand, producing lines with the same playful confidence as its usual posts.

COMMAND 09

09

/competitoranglegapPURPOSE

Find advertising angles that competitors in a category are not using, to create differentiation.

PROMPT

Act as a market positioning analyst. My competitors in [INDUSTRY] typically advertise using these angles: [LIST COMPETITOR ANGLES]. Suggest 5 alternative advertising angles for [PRODUCT] that are underused in this category but would still resonate with [TARGET AUDIENCE]. Explain briefly why each gap exists.

EXAMPLE

Used in the protein bar market, surfacing an unused angle around 'texture and taste' instead of only macros.

COMMAND 10

10

/seasonaladconceptPURPOSE

Create timely advertising concepts tied to a season, holiday, or cultural moment.

PROMPT

Act as a seasonal marketing creative. Create 5 advertising concepts for [PRODUCT] tied to [SEASON/HOLIDAY/EVENT]. Each concept should feel timely and relevant rather than forced, and should include a headline, a visual idea, and a suggested [PLATFORM] format (story, carousel, video, etc).

EXAMPLE

Applied to a candle brand for the first cold week of autumn, generating a 'Slow Down Season' concept.

COMMAND 11

11

/valuepropsharpenPURPOSE

Sharpen a vague value proposition into a punchy, ad-ready statement.

PROMPT

Act as a positioning expert. Here is my current value proposition for [PRODUCT]: '[CURRENT VALUE PROP]'. Rewrite it into 5 sharper, more specific versions that would work as headlines in ads targeting [TARGET AUDIENCE]. Each version should be under 12 words and avoid vague buzzwords.

EXAMPLE

Used to turn 'high quality skincare for everyone' into 'Skincare that admits your skin is complicated.'

COMMAND 12

12

/microtestideaPURPOSE

Generate small, low-budget ad test ideas to validate a new offer or message before scaling spend.

PROMPT

Act as a growth marketer working with a limited budget. Suggest 5 low-cost ad test ideas for [PRODUCT] aimed at [TARGET AUDIENCE] on [PLATFORM]. For each idea, specify what is being tested (headline, image, offer, or audience), the hypothesis, and what a successful result would look like.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a new candle scent launch, testing three different headline hypotheses before a full campaign.

COMMAND 13

13

/adobjectionbreakerPURPOSE

Turn common customer objections into direct, persuasive ad copy that addresses them head-on.

PROMPT

Act as a direct-response advertiser. Here are common objections potential customers have about [PRODUCT]: [LIST OBJECTIONS]. Write 5 ad lines that address these objections directly and confidently, without sounding defensive. Keep the tone [TONE] and suitable for [PLATFORM].

EXAMPLE

Used for a mattress-in-a-box brand, turning 'I can't try it first' into 'Sleep on it. Literally. 100 nights.'

COMMAND 14

14

/limitedspacevisualPURPOSE

Design a single, powerful visual advertising concept built around one focal object or idea.

PROMPT

Act as an art director. Create 3 minimalist advertising concepts for [PRODUCT] where the entire message is carried by one focal visual element and a short headline. Describe the visual, the headline, the color mood, and where on [PLATFORM] this format works best.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a watch brand, producing a concept with a single cracked hourglass replaced by the product.

COMMAND 15

15

/adseriesarcPURPOSE

Plan a connected series of ads that build on each other over time rather than standing alone.

PROMPT

Act as a campaign planner. Design a 4-part ad series for [PRODUCT] that tells a connected story across [TIMEFRAME], rather than four unrelated ads. Describe the arc (what changes from ad 1 to ad 4), the message of each part, and how it builds anticipation for [GOAL].

EXAMPLE

Used for a fitness app's 4-week challenge, with each ad revealing the next stage of a customer's progress.

02

PRODUCT STORYTELLING & CREATIVE CONCEPTS

COMMANDS 16-30

Turn ordinary products into narratives people want to follow, share, and remember.

COMMAND 16

16

/originstoryframePURPOSE

Craft a compelling origin story for a brand or product that builds emotional connection.

PROMPT

Act as a brand storyteller. Using these facts about [BRAND]: [KEY FACTS/HISTORY], write an origin story of 150-200 words that explains why the brand exists, the problem it was created to solve, and what makes it different. Keep the tone [TONE] and avoid generic startup cliches.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a small-batch hot sauce brand, turning a kitchen experiment into a story about patience and family recipes.

COMMAND 17

17

/productasjourneyPURPOSE

Reframe a product description as a journey or transformation the customer goes through.

PROMPT

Act as a narrative copywriter. Rewrite the description of [PRODUCT] as a short journey with a clear before-state, a turning point, and an after-state for [TARGET AUDIENCE]. Keep it under 120 words and end with a single sentence that captures the transformation.

EXAMPLE

Used for a language-learning app, framing the journey from 'silent in meetings' to 'first to raise a hand.'

COMMAND 18

18

/unexpectedcontextPURPOSE

Generate creative scenarios that place a familiar product in an unexpected setting or situation.

PROMPT

Act as a creative concept developer. Suggest 6 unexpected settings or situations where [PRODUCT] could be shown in content, moving it away from its typical, expected context. For each, briefly describe the scene and the single insight or feeling it communicates about the product.

EXAMPLE

Applied to noise-cancelling headphones, placing them in a scene of a lighthouse keeper enjoying total silence.

COMMAND 19

19

/dayinthelifeconceptPURPOSE

Build a 'day in the life' style content concept that naturally features a product without feeling like an ad.

PROMPT

Act as a content strategist. Create a 'day in the life' concept for [TARGET AUDIENCE] where [PRODUCT] appears naturally at 2-3 key moments throughout their day. Describe each moment, what's happening, and how the product fits in without feeling forced or overly promotional.

EXAMPLE

Used for a reusable water bottle, weaving it into a commuter's morning run, desk routine, and evening gym stop.

COMMAND 20

20

/beforeafterconceptPURPOSE

Design a before-and-after style creative concept that visually or narratively shows product impact.

PROMPT

Act as a creative director. Create 4 before-and-after concepts for [PRODUCT] that show its impact in a way that feels honest rather than exaggerated. For each, describe the 'before' state, the 'after' state, and the visual or narrative device used to connect them.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a desk organization product, showing a chaotic desk transitioning into a calm, ordered one over a single shot.

COMMAND 21

21

/objectpersonificationPURPOSE

Give a product a personality or voice to create character-driven storytelling content.

PROMPT

Act as a character writer. Personify [PRODUCT] by giving it a distinct personality, and write a short first-person piece (100-150 words) from the product's point of view, describing its role in the customer's life. Keep the tone [TONE] and avoid making it feel gimmicky.

EXAMPLE

Used for an old leather backpack brand, writing from the bag's perspective about every trip it has carried.

COMMAND 22

22

/miniaturemomentstoryPURPOSE

Turn a small, everyday moment into a meaningful story that connects to a product's purpose.

PROMPT

Act as a brand storyteller. Identify a small, relatable everyday moment connected to the problem [PRODUCT] solves for [TARGET AUDIENCE]. Write a short story (100-150 words) around this moment that ends with a natural, non-salesy mention of the product's role.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a phone charging accessory, centered on the small panic of a phone dying before an important call.

COMMAND 23

23

/legacyanglePURPOSE

Frame a product or brand around ideas of legacy, tradition, or things passed down over time.

PROMPT

Act as a heritage brand copywriter. Write a short piece (100-150 words) that frames [PRODUCT] around the idea of legacy, craftsmanship, or tradition being passed down, even if the brand is new. Keep it authentic and avoid overstating history that doesn't exist.

EXAMPLE

Used for a new ceramics studio, framing techniques passed down through generations of local artisans.

COMMAND 24

24

/curiositygapstoryPURPOSE

Create a short piece of content built around a curiosity gap that a product ultimately resolves.

PROMPT

Act as a content writer specializing in curiosity-driven storytelling. Write a short piece (80-120 words) about [TOPIC RELATED TO PRODUCT] that opens with an intriguing question or claim, builds curiosity, and resolves naturally by introducing how [PRODUCT] relates to the answer.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a sleep-tracking device, opening with 'The best night's sleep of my year happened by accident.'

COMMAND 25

25

/transformationmetaphorPURPOSE

Find a strong metaphor that captures the transformation a product creates for its user.

PROMPT

Act as a metaphor-driven copywriter. Suggest 5 metaphors that could describe the transformation [PRODUCT] creates for [TARGET AUDIENCE]. For each metaphor, write one sentence explaining how it applies and one sample line of copy using it.

EXAMPLE

Used for a financial planning app, comparing early saving habits to planting a tree whose shade you won't sit in yet.

COMMAND 26

26

/customerarcstoryPURPOSE

Write a realistic customer story arc showing struggle, discovery, and resolution using a product.

PROMPT

Act as a case-study storyteller. Write a realistic (but illustrative, non-claiming-real-identity) customer story arc for someone in [TARGET AUDIENCE] who struggles with [PROBLEM], discovers [PRODUCT], and reaches [DESIRED OUTCOME]. Keep it under 180 words and make the struggle specific and believable.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a budgeting tool, following a freelancer's arc from irregular income anxiety to a steady savings routine.

COMMAND 27

27

/sensorydescriptionPURPOSE

Write rich, sensory-focused product descriptions that help customers imagine the experience.

PROMPT

Act as a sensory copywriter. Write a product description for [PRODUCT] that emphasizes at least 3 senses (sight, sound, touch, smell, or taste) to help [TARGET AUDIENCE] imagine the experience of using it. Keep it under 100 words and avoid generic adjectives like 'amazing' or 'great'.

EXAMPLE

Used for a specialty coffee bag, describing the crack of the seal, the aroma, and the warmth of the first sip.

COMMAND 28

28

/conceptmoodboardPURPOSE

Describe a full creative mood board concept in words to guide a photoshoot or content direction.

PROMPT

Act as an art director. Describe a mood board (in words) for a content shoot promoting [PRODUCT], including: color palette, lighting style, textures, props, and overall emotional tone. The mood should align with [BRAND PERSONALITY] and appeal to [TARGET AUDIENCE].

EXAMPLE

Applied to a minimalist skincare line, describing a mood board of soft natural light, stone textures, and muted tones.

COMMAND 29

29

/unlikelypairingPURPOSE

Pair a product with an unexpected object, place, or idea to create a memorable creative concept.

PROMPT

Act as a lateral-thinking creative. Suggest 5 unlikely pairings between [PRODUCT] and an unrelated object, place, or concept that could create a memorable piece of content. For each pairing, explain the connecting idea in one sentence.

EXAMPLE

Used for a running shoe brand, pairing the shoe with a subway map to represent 'routes you choose yourself.'

COMMAND 30

30

/valuesdrivenstoryPURPOSE

Write a short brand story that centers on values and purpose rather than product features.

PROMPT

Act as a purpose-driven brand writer. Write a short piece (120-150 words) about [BRAND] that centers on [CORE VALUE, e.g. sustainability, honesty, craftsmanship] rather than product features, while still making it clear how [PRODUCT] reflects that value in practice.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a refillable cleaning products brand, centering the story on reducing plastic waste at home.

03

PREMIUM & LUXURY BRANDING

COMMANDS 31-45

Elevate perceived value with language, positioning, and concepts fit for high-end brands.

COMMAND 31

31

/luxurylanguageupgrade

PURPOSE

Elevate everyday product copy into refined, premium-sounding language.

PROMPT

Act as a luxury copywriter. Rewrite this product description to sound more refined and premium, without adding false claims: '[CURRENT DESCRIPTION]'. Keep it under 100 words, use precise and elegant language, and avoid overused luxury cliches like 'indulge' or 'exquisite' unless truly earned.

EXAMPLE

Used to elevate 'soft leather wallet, holds 8 cards' into a description emphasizing craftsmanship and restraint.

COMMAND 32

32

/quietluxuryconcept

PURPOSE

Design a 'quiet luxury' creative concept that communicates premium quality through subtlety rather than logos.

PROMPT

Act as a luxury brand strategist. Create a creative concept for [PRODUCT] built around 'quiet luxury' principles: understatement, quality over branding, and confidence without shouting. Describe the visual tone, the copy style, and one sample headline.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a fine jewelry line, focusing on subtle craftsmanship details rather than brand logos.

COMMAND 33

33

/heritagecraftsmanship

PURPOSE

Write copy that emphasizes craftsmanship, materials, and process to justify a premium price point.

PROMPT

Act as a premium product copywriter. Write a short piece (100-150 words) about [PRODUCT] that focuses on the materials used, the craftsmanship involved, and the time or skill required to make it, in order to justify a premium price to [TARGET AUDIENCE].

EXAMPLE

Used for handmade leather boots, detailing the hours of hand-stitching and the sourcing of full-grain leather.

COMMAND 34

34

/exclusivelaunchconcept

PURPOSE

Design a creative concept for an exclusive or limited product launch that builds anticipation.

PROMPT

Act as a launch strategist for premium brands. Create a concept for launching [PRODUCT] as a limited or exclusive release. Include: the framing of scarcity (without being manipulative), a suggested launch sequence (teaser, reveal, release), and one sample teaser line.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a small-batch perfume, launching with a numbered-bottle concept and a 3-day teaser sequence.

COMMAND 35

35

/premiumsocialcaption

PURPOSE

Write social media captions with a refined, high-end tone suitable for premium brands.

PROMPT

Act as a luxury social media copywriter. Write 5 caption options for [PLATFORM] promoting [PRODUCT], written in a refined, confident tone appropriate for a premium brand. Avoid excessive emojis, exclamation points, or casual slang. Each caption should be under 30 words.

EXAMPLE

Used for a high-end watch brand's Instagram post, producing understated captions focused on precision and time.

COMMAND 36

36

/fashionbrandvoicePURPOSE

Develop a distinctive brand voice for a fashion label based on its identity and audience.

PROMPT

Act as a fashion brand consultant. Based on this brand identity: [BRAND IDENTITY/DESCRIPTION], define a brand voice with 3 core traits, a sentence describing how it speaks, and 3 example lines of copy that demonstrate the voice for [PLATFORM].

EXAMPLE

Applied to a genderless streetwear label, defining a voice that is 'direct, dry, and unbothered.'

COMMAND 37

37

/jewelrypresentationcopyPURPOSE

Write elegant, detail-focused product copy specifically suited for jewelry or fine accessories.

PROMPT

Act as a jewelry copywriter. Write a product description for [PRODUCT], a piece of jewelry made from [MATERIALS], designed for [OCCASION/TARGET AUDIENCE]. Focus on craftsmanship, the feeling of wearing it, and one detail that makes it distinctive. Keep it under 90 words.

EXAMPLE

Used for a minimalist gold ring, emphasizing the hand-finished edge and the feeling of an everyday heirloom.

COMMAND 38

38

/premiumlaunchcountdownPURPOSE

Plan a multi-day countdown content sequence for a premium product launch.

PROMPT

Act as a launch content planner. Design a 5-day countdown content sequence leading up to the release of [PRODUCT], suitable for a premium brand. For each day, provide a content theme, the format (image, video, story), and a one-line message, building toward [GOAL] on launch day.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a limited-edition sneaker collaboration, building from 'the inspiration' to 'the reveal' over 5 days.

COMMAND 39

39

/scarcitymessagingPURPOSE

Write honest scarcity-based messaging that motivates action without exaggerating availability.

PROMPT

Act as an ethical direct-response copywriter. Write 4 pieces of scarcity-based messaging for [PRODUCT] that are factually honest about [ACTUAL LIMITATION, e.g. limited stock, limited time]. Avoid fake urgency; the scarcity must be real and clearly explained.

EXAMPLE

Used for a small-batch candle run, honestly stating 'Only 120 made this month' as the actual limitation.

COMMAND 40

40

/premiumunboxingscriptPURPOSE

Script a premium unboxing experience concept, including pacing and sensory details.

PROMPT

Act as an experience designer. Script a premium unboxing sequence for [PRODUCT], describing what the customer sees, feels, and does at each step, from opening the package to first use. Emphasize pacing and small sensory details that reinforce a premium feel.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a skincare gift set, scripting the reveal of a matte box, tissue-wrapped bottles, and a handwritten card.

COMMAND 41

41

/highendcomparisontone

PURPOSE

Write comparison copy that positions a product against alternatives with confidence, not aggression.

PROMPT

Act as a premium brand copywriter. Write a short comparison piece (80-100 words) that positions [PRODUCT] against typical alternatives in [INDUSTRY], using a confident and understated tone rather than aggressive competitor callouts. Focus on what makes the experience different, not who is 'better'.

EXAMPLE

Used for a tailored clothing brand, comparing the fit experience to off-the-rack shopping without naming competitors.

COMMAND 42

42

/giftingconcept

PURPOSE

Design a creative gifting-focused concept and messaging for a premium product.

PROMPT

Act as a gifting campaign strategist. Create a creative concept for positioning [PRODUCT] as a meaningful gift for [OCCASION]. Include a campaign name, one core message about why this gift matters, and 3 supporting content ideas (post, email, in-store).

EXAMPLE

Applied to engraved pens for graduation season, with the concept 'Something They'll Actually Keep.'

COMMAND 43

43

/premiumfaq*tone

PURPOSE

Rewrite standard FAQ answers in a tone that matches a premium, confident brand voice.

PROMPT

Act as a premium customer experience copywriter. Rewrite these FAQ answers for [BRAND] to sound confident, warm, and premium rather than robotic: [PASTE CURRENT FAQ ANSWERS]. Keep the information accurate, just improve the tone and clarity.

EXAMPLE

Used to turn 'Returns accepted within 30 days' into a warmer, more reassuring premium-brand tone.

COMMAND 44

44

/artisanprocess*reveal

PURPOSE

Create content that reveals the process behind making a product to build appreciation and trust.

PROMPT

Act as a behind-the-scenes content strategist. Outline a short content piece that reveals part of the process behind making [PRODUCT], from [STARTING POINT] to [FINISHED RESULT]. Highlight 2-3 details that would surprise or impress [TARGET AUDIENCE] and increase their appreciation for the price.

EXAMPLE

Applied to small-batch chocolate, revealing the bean-sourcing and tempering steps most buyers never see.

COMMAND 45

45

/timelessnessangle

PURPOSE

Position a product around timelessness and lasting value rather than trends.

PROMPT

Act as a brand positioning writer. Write a short piece (100 words) that positions [PRODUCT] around the idea of timeless value rather than following trends, for [TARGET AUDIENCE] who are tired of fast, disposable options in [INDUSTRY].

EXAMPLE

Used for a classic trench coat brand, positioning it as a piece that outlasts entire seasons of trends.

04

NATURE, ENVIRONMENT & VISUAL STORYTELLING

COMMANDS 46-60

Borrow the mood of landscapes, weather, and seasons to give your content atmosphere and depth.

COMMAND 46

46

/weathermoodconcept

PURPOSE

Use a specific weather condition as the emotional backdrop for a creative content concept.

PROMPT

Act as an atmospheric content creator. Create a content concept for [PRODUCT] set during [WEATHER CONDITION, e.g. first rain of autumn]. Describe the mood, the visual details, and how the product fits naturally into this moment for [TARGET AUDIENCE].

EXAMPLE

Applied to a warm knitwear brand, set during the first frost of the season and the comfort of pulling on a sweater.

COMMAND 47

47

/landscapemetaphor

PURPOSE

Use a specific landscape as a metaphor to communicate a brand quality or product benefit.

PROMPT

Act as a metaphor-driven creative writer. Choose a landscape (such as mountains, desert, coastline, or forest) that best represents [BRAND QUALITY, e.g. resilience, calm, ambition] and write a short piece (80-100 words) connecting that landscape to [PRODUCT] for [TARGET AUDIENCE].

EXAMPLE

Used for a mental wellness app, comparing steady progress to a slow, quiet forest trail rather than a summit rush.

COMMAND 48

48

/seasonaltransition

PURPOSE

Create content built around the transition between two seasons rather than one season alone.

PROMPT

Act as a seasonal content strategist. Create a content concept for [PRODUCT] built around the transition from [SEASON A] to [SEASON B], rather than either season alone. Describe the visual mood of 'in-between' and how [PRODUCT] supports this shift for [TARGET AUDIENCE].

EXAMPLE

Applied to a layering jacket, focused on the unpredictable shift from late spring warmth to sudden evening chill.

COMMAND 49

49

/naturaltextureconcept

PURPOSE

Pair a product visually and conceptually with a specific natural texture to create atmosphere.

PROMPT

Act as a visual concept developer. Suggest 5 natural textures (such as bark, stone, water ripples, sand, or moss) that would visually complement [PRODUCT], and explain in one sentence each why the texture reinforces the feeling the brand wants to communicate.

EXAMPLE

Used for a stoneware ceramics brand, pairing rough clay textures with weathered rock surfaces for its photoshoot.

COMMAND 50

50

/wateranddepthconcept

PURPOSE

Use water, depth, or fluidity as a creative theme for a product or brand story.

PROMPT

Act as a creative concept developer. Create a content concept for [PRODUCT] built around the theme of water, depth, or fluidity, connecting it to [BRAND QUALITY, e.g. clarity, calm, adaptability]. Describe the core visual and one supporting line of copy.

EXAMPLE

Applied to a hydration brand, using slow-motion water ripples to represent clarity of focus throughout the day.

How to Get Better Results from ChatGPT

01 Give context

Explain what you're working on and why, not just what you want as an output.

02 Define your audience

Tell ChatGPT exactly who the content is for — their needs, mindset, and interests.

03 Specify the desired tone

Words like 'playful', 'confident', or 'minimal' change the result dramatically.

04 Provide examples

Share a sample of your existing style so the output matches your voice.

05 Set output format

Ask for bullet points, a table, a script, or a specific word count when it matters.

06 Add constraints

Mention length limits, platform rules, or things to avoid for a more usable result.

07 Ask for multiple variations

Request 3-5 versions so you can compare and pick the strongest one.

08 Refine the first result

Treat the first draft as a starting point — ask for adjustments, not perfection.

09 Combine commands

Use one command for concept and another for copy to build a complete piece.

10 Save your best prompts

Keep a personal library of your favorite customized commands to reuse.
